Parkinson's Foundation Community Partners in Parkinson's Care is a membership program for senior living communities and home care agencies.

About Membership
Education is at the heart of the Community Partners in Parkinson’s Care program. The curriculum is based on the latest Parkinson’s disease (PD) information, pharmacological and non-pharmacological therapies, care recommendations, and interprofessional communication.

Developed by PD educators, with decades of care experiences, this program provides direct care staff and other professionals with knowledge they can apply to client care tomorrow.

Parkinson’s disease is a complex neurodegenerative disease. Most clients who move to a senior residential community or bring in-home care are in the mid-late stages of PD with challenging care needs. Providing individualized care to support client needs requires knowledge and confidence in common symptoms and management tools. The program is designed to distill the complexity of PD into applicable information and tangible tools so staff can immediately provide optimal care to enhance their clients’ quality of life.

Virtual & In-person Training
This program provides a full curriculum of Parkinson’s education through virtual and in-person trainings. Presented via online synchronous and asynchronous learning experiences, we educate site champions at each member site utilizing the train-the-trainer model.

Role of the Site Champion
What is a site champion?
A site champion is the designated representative between a member site and the Community Partners in Parkinson’s Care leadership team. They participate in update meetings and virtual site visits to review progress and answer questions.

Site champions must participate in a two-day virtual training, where they will receive a high-level education on Parkinson’s disease, as well as information on the mechanics, expectations, and resources of program membership.

Successful site champions tend to be enthusiastic, organized and interested in improving the quality of Parkinson’s care. Many are nurses or social workers but can serve in any role within their organization.

The Role of a Site Champion
Typically, each member site has at least two site champions who are responsible to steward at least 70% of the staff to complete the online education models and implement the tools learned in the everyday care of their clients.

Site champions:
- Are the primary representatives of the program at their site.
- Ensure education for new and existing staff using the provided Community Partners in Parkinson’s Care online curriculum.
- Raise awareness of membership.
- Perform timely collection of outcome data and reports based on the schedule provided. These include:
  - Medication Audits (two times a year for senior communities only)
  - Client Surveys (two times a year)
  - Semi-Annual Report (two times a year)

As the network continues to grow, the Parkinson’s Foundation takes pride in meeting with site champions two times a year for one-on-one calls with our National Co-Directors. Our goal is to coach and mentor site champions throughout the center’s membership to support your efforts to meet the Requirements of Membership each year.
